

SCOTLAND'S NEWSPAPER

Daily Record

Friday, May 14, 2010

WWW.DAILYRECORD.CO.UK

40p

Scotland's
New Face
2010

The Face race

Your chance to be Scotland's next star of the catwalk

By Samantha Booth

s.booth@dailyrecord.co.uk

THE search for Scotland's New Face 2010 continues tomorrow, with the second of a string of roadshows across the country.

The Scotland's New Face Smart car was in Glasgow last weekend. The team were impressed by the calibre of the would-be catwalk queens entering the contest and are hoping for a similar turnout in Edinburgh tomorrow.

The team will be at Ocean Terminal in the capital from 2pm to 3pm. If you want to enter, bring along a photo of yourself with your personal details on the back.

Judging panel member Tess Hartmann, founder of the Scottish Fashion Awards, said: "We got off to a flying start in our first week.

"What was nice was how prepared the girls were. They have listened to the advice - don't put on too much make-up, don't try too hard, let the professionals do the judging. Competition will certainly be stiff."

WINNER: Christina

Stunning Christina Chalk, 16, of Dunblane, took the title last year.

This year's winner will be announced in June at the Scottish Fashion Awards.

And she'll win a super package of prizes, including the chance to be represented by modelling agency Storm, the use of a Smart car for 12 months plus £1000 towards insurance, a campaign shoot with Bonhoo.com, £1000 to spend at Bonhoo.com, a £250 Swarovski voucher, a style makeover at Toni & Guy and a make-up lesson from Bobbi Brown.

All applicants should be 16 or over and at least 5ft 8in tall.

HOW TO ENTER

REGISTER at the official website - www.scotland'snewface.com - or go to one of our roadshows and drop off a picture of yourself with your details on the back.

Scotland's New Face 2010 is open to females aged 16 and over.

ROADSHOW DATES

Saturday, May 15: Ocean

Terminal, Edinburgh

Saturday, May 22:

Thistle Centre, Stirling

Saturday, May 29:

The Centre, Livingston